FAMILY ISLAND

It's an island where memories are created that light up the eyes of children,
An island where generations get together to share good times,
An island with a child's soul where indulging in food is not an evil inclination,
An island where landscapes are always a source of wonder,
An island where the little ship's boys and girls learn boat manoeuvring and discover the ocean,
An island that parents and children can quietly criss-cross,
An island full of nice surprises and amusing entertainment,
An island where beautiful stories sometimes have their beginning...

MAGIC ISLAND

Juliette is seven years old... She loves coming on holidays with family to Noirmoutier Island. For the beach, of course, but also for the magical and mysterious crossing of the Gois.

"I remember the first time I went across the Gois... It was in the evening, it was a little dark. Daddy and Mummy had told me that we would go through the middle of the sea with the car. I was wondering how we could possibly do that and I was a little afraid. And even more so when the car started to ride down toward the water. Mummy told me to take a good look and count the beacons. I was very glad to make it through! Now, I'm less afraid, and I like going on the Gois. It makes a noise like a train, and it's fun seeing the sea on each side around the road. Sometimes, there are kitesurfers flying, it makes me laugh. You can see the birds too. Once, we even stopped in the middle to go shellfishing. Daddy has told me that next year we'll go by bike. And when I'm older, I'd like to climb on a beacon to have a look."

THE ROAD IS UNDER WATER

I also remember a day when we went on the Gois and the sea had not completely gone out. I myself did not like that at all and Mummy didn't either, she wasn't pleased. Actually, there was just a little pool of sea water in the middle of the Gois. Daddy splashed through and we laughed a lot, but I don't feel much like doing it again. Often, we take the bridge. It's nice too because the bridge is very high. You can see the landscape very well and, best of all, at the end, you go down to the island, a little as if you were on a plane. One day, I even went for a walk under the bridge. There, you can really see that it is very high. And it's quite fun to listen to the cars passing over, it makes a funny noise. The Gois, you can't always take it because, when the tide rises, the road goes under water completely. But, with my little brother, we prefer the Gois. We always ask to go that way."

CHILDREN ARE KINGS

A children's paradise, Noirmoutier Island offers multiple locations and services to entertain them or encourage them to meet other children. Among these, let's mention the day care centre Les Poissons-Clowns [Clownfish] in Noirmoutier-en-l'île for the younger ones, the Ty Splash swimming school in Morin Harbour in L'Epine or the three beach clubs-Mickey Mouse club at Les Sableaux Beach in Noirmoutier-en-l'île, Valdingo club at Mardi-Gras Beach in Le Vieil, Mickey club at La Cantine Beach in La Guérinière. In Noirmoutier-en-l'île, the Trait d'Union [Hyphen] library has a fine vaulted room devoted to children's literature and regularly organises Hours of Tales with the telling of stories.

FEELING LIKE GETTING TOGETHER

Ten years ago, I bought a Muscadet from 1968, Dry White. This allows you to go further. We even sailed as far as Belle-Île with the boys. It's a boat that makes you feel like sailing, like getting together. It has a quiet and serene side, you can't get mad. I sometimes sail out on my own, at times in the early morning. On Noirmoutier Island, the stretch of water is really nice and the ocean-side coast is magnificent. The Bois de la Chaise Regattas, I had been feeling like doing them for a long time, but I didn't have a boat yet and I had never dared proposing myself as a crewman. I registered as soon as I got the Muscadet and I've done them virtually every year since, always with family, with my sons and my brother-in-law. There's a good atmosphere, we rub elbows with the other owners of Muscadets who have become friends. This is competition with no hassle. And the sailing up the harbour is a very nice moment. I often take aboard people who ask me and whom I don't know. We're always quite a few on that day."

MAGICAL REGATTAS

The very first Bois de la Chaise Regattas were held in 1894... After an eclipse of some thirty years from the Sixties on, this nautical event has resolutely regained its place in the Noirmoutier calendar. Every year in early August, it brings together traditional sailing boats in a popular festive atmosphere, with two inescapable moments for the enthusiasts: the beaching of the fleet on Les Dames Beach and the sailing up the heritage harbour. Just next, the Noirmoutier Classic brings together the classic yachts: Sharks, Dragons, Metric sailboats... which are regularly joined by yachts of legend, such as Eric Tabarly's Pen Duicks.

GOURMET ISLAND

For forty-four years, Marco Abergel has been criss-crossing the beaches of Noirmoutier Island to sell his soft ice creams. His truck and his little music have already lured several generations of regular buyers.

"Originally, I worked for a boss for five years. The company was based in Reims, but we used to work on the coast in summer. I set up my own business at the end of the 1976 season and I wanted to see how things could work out on Noirmoutier Island... Since then, I've been coming back every year and my son Yoni has been working with me for nineteen years. With our little yellow and blue trucks specially fitted out in England, we divide up the island between us. Every afternoon, I go through the beaches of La Guérinière, Le Vieil and La Madeleine and I end with the Sables-d'Or district in La Guérinière. My son starts with the small streets of Barbâtre, then he does the beach in Luzeronde, La Clère Beach and Les Souzeaux Beach.

EAGERLY AWAITED EVERY DAY

I always stand in the same locations... Everybody knows my little music – the Popeye tune – and people come quickly and queue up in front of the truck. My customers are regulars, I knew some of them as kids, then their own kids and today their grandchildren. I call many of them by their first names and they all talk to me in the familiar form! Some even say they come on holidays here for me. Customers have not really changed over all that time, but tastes are evolving. My favourite spot is the village of Les Sables-d'Or. I know everyone, it's a little like being home. I also like Mardi-Gras Beach in Le Vieil. I'm eagerly awaited every day at the Mickey Club, everybody gets up when I arrive and you have a queue! But it's a little the same on every beach. I've never felt like changing places. I feel well, I work well, customers are friendly... I don't feel like moving!"

INCOMPARABLE MARKETS

L'Épine, Noirmoutier-en-l'Île, L'Herbaudière (in summer), Barbâtre, La Guérinière... The Noirmoutier Island markets each have about them a different charm. Covered market in Noirmoutier, the busiest one, a village atmosphere in L'Epine and La Guérinière, in front of the boats in the harbour of L'Herbaudière, a little away from the village in Barbâtre... They are all overflowing with appetising fresh produce: fish and shellfish, fruits and vegetables, among which the famous and matchless Noirmoutier potatoes, meats, cheeses... A concentrate of colourful moments and gourmet invitations for you to enjoy.

NATURE ISLAND

With his small sailing boat, Joël Léauté takes families sailing near the coast and beaching on the foreshore. A discovery of fauna and flora full of teachings.

"This is a collective flat-bottom boat that was used in the old days for small-scale inshore fishing. I can take on board up to five persons with me, it's ideal for families. The boat is very securing; generally, everybody, young and old, takes part in the manoeuvres under the guidance of the skipper. This enables to discover the coast differently, to see plenty of details invisible from the beach. I sail out mainly in Bourgneuf Bay, within a triangle comprised between L'Herbaudière, Vendette, a rocky plateau between the island and the mainland, and the harbour of Noirmoutier. The bay is very rich and allows for multiple discoveries: shellfishing, foreshore, sand banks, oyster beds, bouchot mussel beds, rocks..."

TREASURE HUNT

Children love shellfishing, it looks like a treasure hunt. You don't gather much, but many different things: clams with a clam knife; a multitude of plants, shrimps and small crabs in the basket; razor clams reaching the surface when you put grains of salt on their holes. You discover small fishes, baby sea bass or baby mullet fish, in the pools of water, small shellfish under the rocks, edible seaweed clinging to the rocks... You have to be observant! It's also an opportunity to discover the tide mark and understand how it works and what it contributes to biodiversity. And also its preponderant role for plants fixing the dune. From the boat, you can also discover the migratory birds with binoculars. We get as close to the rocks as possible to watch them: shorebirds, these small waders, avocets, sandpipers coming to breed in summer; grey herons and little egrets in spring and in autumn... As we sail, I also talk about the potato, the Bois de la Chaise, the salterns... What I give my passengers is a set of leads so that they may carry on discovering on their own if they wish."

A PRESERVED SETTING

On Noirmoutier Island, the coast is not the only thing you can explore. Indeed, the island offers multiple landscapes with serene atmospheres. You can happily lose your way in the draughtboard of the salterns that the saltmakers can make you explore. We go up and down on the paths of the charming wood of Les Eloux, we go on a digital treasure hunt on the trail of Louise the otter in the natural reserve of the Sebastopol polder... Wherever its nice walking trails take you, Noirmoutier Island unveils to you its true nature.

PIRATE ISLAND

Last summer, Penelope was in charge of the little ones at the Garden of the Seas of the sailing school in L'Epine on Noirmoutier Island. With her, the pirates made their debut...

"The Garden of the Seas welcomes children from four to six. They try out stand-up paddle boarding, kayaking, Optimist sailing, windsurfing... The training courses, in groups of six, last for five days, at the rate of two hours per day. The first four days are spent on the closed stretch of water of Les Perles and the fifth takes place ocean-side, if conditions permit. It is very rare to have access to a closed stretch of water, as we have here, and it's ideal for young kids. They always stay close to the land, which reassures them. You have to adapt practices and vocabulary for the little ones who feel cold very fast and may get afraid. This is why they practise in groups, with several of them on the stand-up paddle board or the Optimist dinghy. They can thus copy each other and reproduce each other's gestures, or mine since I also accompany them on an Optimist or a stand-up paddle board."

BOTTLES AT SEA

You also have to give them the urge and this chiefly involves playing. We create a story of pirates, we make them look for bottles at sea... They do believe that wholeheartedly. This is what puts the kids in confidence and makes them feel like coming back. Every session begins in the pirates' cabin. This is where they find, without their parents, the suits and life jackets. They help each other put them on, which allows for group bonding and gives them autonomy. There is also an aquarium in which they place what they gather when shellfishing. Before switching to water, there is indeed an onshore activity in connection with the sea: drawing a catamaran, fishing on the rocks... It's always different with the little ones. They are filled with wonder at the activity, impressed by what they manage to do and very grateful too. They express it by sending letters of thanks. The Garden of the Seas really is a brilliant concept. It makes the kids feel like continuing sailing. The older ones will move up to the Optimist next year and this makes them super happy."

ALL NAUTICAL PRACTICES

With several water sports centres, the magnificent stretch of water of Bourgneuf Bay and the Atlantic coast are privileged playgrounds to discover or practise the different facets of water sports. Classical ones, such as dinghy sailing, catamaran sailing or windsurfing; more contemplative ones, such as stand-up paddle boarding or sea kayaking; exciting ones, such as flyboarding, kitesurfing or jetskiing... And if you want to go further off, Noirmoutier Island also makes it possible to be initiated into coastal navigation, with sail or motor. Sand yachting and scuba diving may also be part of the programme.

LIBERTY ISLAND

For Amélie, Noirmoutier Island is first and foremost a place where the whole family gets together. And where you can let the kids live serenely at their pace.

"I've been living in the Vendée for fifteen years, but I had come only three or four times to the island. My little brother bought a house in 2016 and thus we have now a home port of which we can take advantage. We often make up our mind at the last moment, on Friday nights, if the weather conditions are nice. When the whole family gathers together in the house, that's quite a tribe: we're sixteen! The children range from 9 to 20 years of age, the youngest ones are my twins, Rose and Adèle, and my niece Anna. On the island, we don't use the car, it's much more fun doing everything by bike. And so we all have bicycles and we move around mainly on the cycle paths and we're rarely on the road.

ALL TOGETHER

Generally, the older ones take care of the younger ones. It made me a little nervous, but things go very well. They go to the basketball court, to the tennis court, without the parents. For the beach, it's the same. In most cases, we accompany them, but we're not afraid of leaving the binoculars with an older one. Sometimes, we walk up through the wood to reach L'Anse-Rouge. Or else I like a lot Les Dames Beach which is really safe for children. To get to the centre of Noirmoutier-en-l'île, the older ones take the Gratibus. It's a little free bus, convenient and quite fun, even though in summer it's a little crowded. It is punctual and runs very well. The younger ones prefer bike rides to the salterns, Le Vieil... Even La Guérinière! They don't fall behind because it's very flat. Generally, they do 10 to 15 kilometres in a single day. Noirmoutier Island really is a place for families, every location is accessible. And Rose, Adèle and Anna always want to go biking, it's all they want. And all together... The sixteen of us, it's not necessarily something effective, but these are good times for sharing!"

GREAT BIKING!

The general opinion is that Noirmoutier Island is a paradise for cyclists. It's true that with 83 km of dedicated cycle paths, you can criss-cross it from north to south and east to west. Cycling makes it possible to explore serenely the island's finest landscapes: the salterns, the pond of Les Perles in L'Epine, the Jacobsen jetty running along the Mülembourg nature reserve, the Bois de la Chaise wood, the beaches of Le Vieil, but also the oyster-farming site of Le Bonhomme in La Guérinière, the southern coast in Barbâtre, sheltered by the jetty... and the Gois for the more daring! As for those who have no equipment or were unable to bring in their gear, they will find what they're looking for with the island's bike renters: bikes and hybrid bikes in all sizes, electric assisted bikes, Rosalie bikes...

ENTERTAINMENT ISLAND

With the Hippo Tam Tam company, Magali has come to perform on Noirmoutier Island. For the greatest pleasure of old and young.

"In summer, Noirmoutier Island is very popular with families and children who are on holidays and who take time to attend. This is indeed what makes the charm of the Rue Marmaille festival in Barbâtre. In the street of the village centre specially closed to traffic, the public finds a multitude of artistic proposals from various companies. As for us, we made a four-hour street performance. You have a family atmosphere: these are grandparents with their grandchildren, dads and mums with their kids... People are receptive, they feel like enjoying themselves and come to explore the different shows.

THE HAPPINESS MOMENT

Our Pédales et Manivelles [Pedals and Cranks] performing activity takes place in the view of everyone... The audience is guided by two comedians, "propagating agents for immediate well-being," toward the pedalers, games of skill or detectors of grumpy characters. This is a participatory performance featuring a succession of tinker inventions. Every time, we take two groups consisting of kids and adults, and everybody participates. Indeed, some machines are equipped with cranksets for the grownups and cranksets for the little ones, so that everyone may take advantage of them together. In the course of the tour, the audience collects happiness points. According to scores obtained, we hand out seeds to the participants. We suggest to people that they plant them at home and send us pictures once they have grown... And it works! This is the "happiness moment." Noirmoutier Island is a unique place that is used to hosting street performance companies and knows how to do it right, it's very pleasant. Summertime is quite rich in proposals, with plenty of free access activities families can take advantage of."

CELEBRATING FAMILIES

The offering of events featuring a segment specifically aimed at children is significant on Noirmoutier Island. Indeed, besides Rue Marmaille in mid-June, you also have the Déferlante de printemps [Spring Breaker] and the Déferlante d'été [Summer Breaker], Vendean tours of street performances stopping over in Barbâtre and Noirmoutier-en-l'Île with free performances. Many events have in store activities for the young, among which the Bois de la Chaise Regattas with the Bois et Cordages [Ropes and Wood] Workshop or Accrovoile, to climb up the greasy pole; the picking of the Bonnotte, the most famous Noirmoutier potato; or, furthermore, the four sea celebrations, in the harbour of Le Bonhomme in La Guéririère, in Morin Harbour in L'Epine, in the fishing harbour of L'Herbaudière and in the heritage harbour of Noirmoutier-en-l'Île. Finally, for twenty years, Eclats de lire, the book festival for children, has been opening with the Halloween holidays in Noirmoutier-en-l'Île.

Stéphanie fell in love twice... With Noirmoutier Island where she has been coming since her childhood and with Laurent whom she met there. It's, of course, here that they live today.

"My parents had a house in Le Vieil and I've spent all my holidays on Noirmoutier Island since I was born. When I was a child, I lived in the Paris region and what I loved above all was the atmosphere of the island: the rocks, the beach, fishing for shrimp and clams, biking... Right from seven or eight years of age, I was allowed to go to the beach without my parents... I had a feeling of liberty and always the impression of getting here a big breath of fresh air. Laurent's parents had a holiday home on the island, too, at Bois de la Chaise. I met him when I was a teenager, we were part of the same bunch of friends on the beach. We've been knowing each other for nearly thirty years, but we've been together for eighteen years only. We got closer on the occasion of a fête at a friends' place in Barbâtre.

AN EXCEPTIONAL SETTING

A native of Angers, Laurent had then already settled on Noirmoutier Island which he knows very well and where he had the opportunity to take over a small artisan business. As for me, I worked in a multinational firm in Paris and I resigned at once to look for work in Nantes and get closer to Laurent. But I really was able to settle in with him only twelve years ago. I found work in Noirmoutier before setting up my own business. I like this life punctuated by the holiday periods, with a quiet yet very pleasant winter. Quality of life is exceptional and growing up here is an invaluable chance for the kids. I deeply love this island, its nature, tides, landscapes: salterns, farming areas, beaches... You have a great variety of atmospheres. On weekends, we love strolling with family and we're also very keen on shellfishing. One thing for sure is that when we go away, we're always happy to come back to the island of our heart!"

A FESTIVE AIR

Of course, there is La Boîte à Sel [the Salt Box], truly an institution of the Noirmoutier nights for fifty years. But Noirmoutier Island also counts a great number of cafés with welcoming terraces where it's nice to start your evening... or extend it! The island is also open to new sounds: since 2018, the square of L'Étier-du-Moulin in Noirmoutier-en-l'Île has been hosting in August the lode Music Festival, a convivial human-sized event offering techno and electro music on two stages.
