LIVE THE NOIRMOUTIER
EXPERIENCE AND DISCOVER THE ISLAND'S TRUE SOUL

A trip to the island of Noirmoutier is a true voyage for the senses. Awarded the "Remarkable Site of Taste" label for its gastronomy, you'll experience tantalising food. Its famous new potato is grown in the north of the island, between Le Vieil and L'Herbaudière, and served alongside oysters from the Bonhomme oyster port and fish caught off the island at dawn.

Fresh fruit and vegetables carefully selected from the stalls of local producers bring a touch of colour to the local cuisine. Not forgetting, a sprinkle of fleur de sel, the "white gold" harvested from the salt marshes on the island.

On the island, the ocean is a state of mind. With its winds and tides, it is much more than just a landscape. It is a part of life that you can experience all year round, through watersports and sailing. Old rigs continue to sail the waters off the island of Noirmoutier, offering a reminder of its rich maritime past. Their colourful canvas sails form a gorgeous scene against the backdrop of blue sky and sea, dotted with kite surfers seeking thrills in the surf along the shore. Life by the ocean is a tête-à-tête with the force of nature, an experience for all the senses where the wind whispers tales of adventure.

Sea Air

On the island of Noirmoutier, every breath is a breath of the sea's energy. In the salty sea breeze, you can feel the caress of pure ocean air on your face. Each new day, here, begins in the Bay of Bourgneuf in the east. At sunrise, the natural landscape is illuminated in soft light. Think golden sand, deep blue waters and green forests. To admire the sunset, you'll need to head west. With the touch of fine sand beneath your feet, you'll catch sight of the last rays of sunlight disappearing into a sky painted in shades of orange and pink. Pure poetry.

Relaxation

Untouched natural beauty interwoven with a thousand years of history give the island of Noirmoutier a special charm. Do you feel it? Visitors enjoy strolling the island, with no other aim than to relax and have a good time. From the Hotel Jacobsen museum to the old seafarers' district - the Banzeau - via the pretty shop windows of local artisans and Noirmoutier's stylish boutiques, you'll experience a whole other side to the island. It's about taking things slow and clearing your mind, so that you can let go and completely unwind.

Sights

Experiencing the true soul of the island means flying across the water on a kite board, pedalling through the marshes, and admiring the boats sailing into L'Herbaudière harbour. It means being moved by the sight of birds enjoying their protected habitat, and having a good laugh on a sunny terrace. With such a rich natural environment and unspoilt beauty, the island of Noirmoutier has so many amazing sights, sounds and smells to savour.

Sounds & Smells

In spring, on the island of Noirmoutier, a ballet of scents awakens the senses. The paths are adorned with the yellow glow of wild mustard and the winds carry with them the heady scents of the Sebastopol polder. Between the joyful parade of birds and the painstaking work of the salt workers preparing their salt fields for the coming harvests, a very special atmosphere reigns here. In this magical season, escaping to the island becomes an experience for the senses, where every moment reveals the richness of nature's awakening.

Noirmoutier Island from the Water

The island of Noirmoutier is a mecca for watersports, offering thrill-seekers an ideal playground for exploring all kinds of activities on the water, from the traditional to the more adrenaline-filled.

WINGFOILING, TO FEEL FREE AS THE WIND

Fly across the water and feel the force of the wind sweep through your sail as you make bold and daring turns - wingfoiling offers an intense feeling of freedom. It's a way of letting go and surrendering to the elements with no other aim than to be carried along by the wind.

SURFSKIING, TO CATCH SOME FAST WAVES

Ever heard of surfskiing, a sport all the way from Australia? This cousin of the traditional sea kayak has made a name for itself on Noirmoutier's coast, and is bound to pique your curiosity.

In surfskiing, every paddle stroke through the water becomes a rhythmic melody, where the thrill and adrenalin of catching waves create a powerful connection with the sea.

SEA WADING, FOR AN ALTERNATIVE TO WALKING

Walking waste-high in the island's waters is an excellent way to tone the body while calming the mind. Sea wading (or "longe-côte" as it's called in French) on Noirmoutier Island is an invigorating cocktail combining the virtues of the sea with the pleasure of effort and exercise - the perfect recipe for well-being.

WINDSURFING, FOR SALTY THRILLS

Windsurfing is a real game of skill, requiring patience, coordinated movements and unfailing endurance. The euphoria of the wind carries you along for a moment of pure wet fun. Starting on the warm sand, it's a physical and sensory adventure that you can enjoy on a calm or powerful sea.

Noirmoutier Island on Foot

Walking and running are sports that keep you constantly on the lookout for new challenges, using your body power alone. Here on the island of Noirmoutier, the peaceful scenery offers the perfect contrast to the demands of physical exercise, making it the ideal place to work out while enjoying the island's serenity.

WARM UP WITH A JOG BETWEEN THE DUNES AND BARBÂTRE FOREST

Going running in Barbâtre is a truly close-up encounter with nature. The rhythm of your strides converses with the soothing sound of the waves as the wind whispers in the trees. Wherever you are, even among the pine trees, the sea is always in sight. You'll appreciate the peace and quiet of the island all the more once you've accomplished your goal. With breathtaking views to reward you, you can dig your feet in the sand and take a well-deserved break.

HIT A STRIDE BETWEEN LUZÉRONDE BEACH AND L'HERBAUDIÈRE HARBOUR

Between Luzéronde beach and L'Herbaudière harbour, you'll feel your heartbeat quicken as you reach full speed. Imagine running across a long curving stretch of sand, with your mind set solely on one goal - the grassy green salt marshes on the horizon. You'd almost forget the effort of your strides along the sand once you're there.

Whether you're on your own, in a couple or with friends, you can reward your physical effort with a crêpe or waffle beside the harbour of L'Herbaudière.

CHALLENGE YOURSELF IN THE BOIS DES ÉLOUX

The Bois des Éloux wood is a well-kept secret between the villages of L'Épine and La Guérinière. The place is a real paradise for those seeking an athletic challenge and the scenery here is so surprising that it almost feels like you've been transported some place else. In this undulating wood, the smell of the sea embalms the paths, warmed by the scent of pine thorns that crunch under every stride. This unusual site is ideal for both running and trail enthusiasts, thanks to its varied terrain and low to moderate gradients.

GO FOR A GOOD WALK IN LA GUÉRINIÈRE

The Sentier des Quatre Moulins or Four Mills Trail, between sand dunes and golden beaches, is the place to enjoy more contemplative walks. Along the way, you will see a number of traditional windmills. These emblems of the island of Noirmoutier are remnants of a time when grain was ground by the force of the wind alone. The dunes, which watch over the incessant come and go of the ocean, are rich with protected plant species that should be admired from afar to prevent their harm.

Cycling Adventures

Here on the island of Noirmoutier, a bicycle will be your new best friend. On a bike, you'll be completely free to explore the whole island, even its most secret spots. Plus, it's a green and hassle-free way of getting around.

TAKE IT EASY AROUND NOIRMOUTIER-EN-L'ÎLE

Set off from Noirmoutier-en-l'île for one of the gentlest rides on the island. Starting along the Jacobsen jetty with a lovely sea breeze, you'll have marshes on the one hand and a nature reserve on the other, as you cycle towards the unmistakable Bois de la Chaise, where time seems to have stood still. In the shade of century-old trees, you'll see magnificent villas dating from the early 20th century. Some quite different scenery awaits in the village of Le Vieil, a charming little hamlet with white houses and blue shutters.

SEE THE SALT FLATS BY BIKE

The salt marshes, in L'Épine, offer the ideal bike terrain to pick up some speed. In the bright winter sun, you'll discover a landscape where nature and the work of man fit perfectly with one another. Alive with plant and animal life, the salt flats are most stunning in the first light of morning and the setting sun.

PEDAL INTO NATURE

Cycling adventures on the island of Noirmoutier can start right from the foot of the bridge – a breathtaking view of the Bay of Bourgneuf awaits at the top. Once onto the island, you can ride through Barbâtre, an authentic and truly natural place. If you have a gravel bike, you might fancy a go at the Passage du Gois, the only natural link between the island and the mainland. At the far end of Barbâtre is one of the highlights of this nature ride – the oyster-farming port of Le Bonhomme, where you can sample local oysters fished that very morning.

On the island of Noirmoutier, every day is about fun and adventure. You can step aboard an old sailing ship for a trip out to sea, brush up your backhand on the tennis courts at Les Mimosas, take a shot at pétanque, ride the bowl at the L'Étier skatepark, align body and mind with some yoga or blow the cobwebs away along the endless Plage de l'Océan. Every corner of the island is an excuse to experience new sensations.

NOIRMOUTIER SALT

Salt and salt farming have formed a harmonious link between man and nature for generations and are an integral part of the heritage of the island of Noirmoutier. As well as its culinary role, sea salt from Noirmoutier Island embodies a veritable philosophy of life, marked by respect for nature and its preservation. Originating from ancestral know-how, this delicate art handed down from generation to generation, is the result of the salt workers' hard labour, generous sunshine and a perpetual sea breeze. Coarse salt, fine salt, flower of salt, flavoured salt... The producers of the Noirmoutier Island salt cooperative cultivate salt in all its forms, using strictly respected methods. Noirmoutier Salt is harvested by hand and neither treated nor washed, so it retains all its richness in trace elements.

THE NOIRMOUTIER POTATO

A must-try speciality, the Noirmoutier Island potato is a coastal potato with a very distinctive flavour. Nurtured by a mild climate and sea air, our potato thrives on the sandy soil that Noirmoutier farmers enrich with seaweed. That's what gives it its distinctive taste. Nestling in the vast plain to the north of the island between the towns of Le Vieil, Noirmoutier-en-l'Île and L'Herbaudière, the potato fields are sheltered from the wind and frosts, resulting in an exceptionally light potato. The island's local markets and the Noirmoutier-en-l'Île farm cooperative are the best places to buy this delicacy.

FISH

On Noirmoutier Island, fish has pride of place. The village of L'Herbaudière, in particular, has a strong fishing culture, which continues to resonate with the greatest chefs today. Every morning, the boats of the island's fishermen set out in search of fresh, noble fish to tantalise the taste buds of lovers of fine cuisine. Flagship species of the island's fishermen include pollack, red mullet and sea bream, alongside which you may find sea bass and sole depending on the day's catch. To keep the flesh of the fish tender, the fishermen of the Noirmoutier Island maritime cooperative pride themselves in employing a gentle line fishing technique that does not stress the fish. To enjoy this array of fresh fish, you'll need to visit the island's restaurants, whose chefs put them to use brilliantly in their own exquisite dishes.

OYSTERS

Oyster farming has developed particularly rapidly over the last fifty years, finding fertile ground on the foreshore surrounding the island, in the Bay of Bourgneuf, off the coast of the Bonhomme oyster port, in La Guérinière. Some forty local producers in the Noirmoutier oyster producers' cooperative ensure the continued excellence of this age-old tradition, producing exceptional local oysters. The quality of the environment, combined with the ancestral know-how of producers, is the key to Noirmoutier oysters with their delicate flesh and incomparable saline flavour. As well as oysters, the island of Noirmoutier offers a wide range of shellfish, and a simple drizzle of lemon or shallot vinegar is all it takes to reveal their rich flavours.

LE GOIS

The meeting of two currents is at the origin of this disappearing and re-appearing causeway. The submersible track – once the only way to reach the island – can only be crossed at specific times of the day, depending on the tides. The most beautiful time of day at Le Gois is sunset.

THE WINDMILLS

More than just mills! For centuries, their great sails twirling in the sky told sailors the direction and speed of the winds.

THE VILLAS OF BOIS DE LA CHAISE

In the 19th century, members of high society could order a Bois de la Chaise villa from a catalogue. The pretty names of the villas reflect the change of scenery and serenity to which the owners aspired.

THE SÉBASTOPOL POLDER

The history behind the name: The polder, which was completed in 1856, takes its name from the famous battle won that same year. Today, it is a 133-hectare nature reserve, offering an enchanting habitat for plants and animals.

THE SALT MARSHES

Here, artisan salt is so precious that it used to be referred to as white gold. Today's salt workers have inherited this age-old savoir-faire and put it into practice every day in the salt marshes.

L'HERBAUDIÈRE HARBOUR

In the early last century, the sardine canning factories also played a role in shaping the landscape of the island of Noirmoutier. They brought in Breton workers who left their mark on many of the island's houses, naming them "ker" or "home" in Breton.

THE CASTLE

Built to protect the monks and people of Noirmoutier-en-l'Île from successive invasions, the château is nowadays quite rightly listed as a remarkable heritage site.

NOIRMOUTIER-EN-L'ÎLE HARBOUR AND THE JACOBSEN JETTY

In the 19th century, the port of Noirmoutier-en-l'Île was busy with merchant ships. Salt was traded for building materials and it was this white gold that allowed the island to develop economically.

THE BANZEAU DISTRICT

This district is one of the oldest on the island. Once located in a flood zone, the BanzEAU district takes its name from the French for low water ("basses eaux").

All the Island's Colours

On the island of Noirmoutier, green comes in every possible shade. From soft and pale to bright and deep, its hues are everywhere in this precious and unspoilt natural environment. To raise awareness of the importance of conserving it, you can discover the beauty of the island of Noirmoutier in a short film.

You will at once fall under the spell of the Arthus-Bertrand Villa, just as spellbinding as the island. Fully renovated, this former palm grove turned into a mansion house and then a hotel will accommodate you, your family and friends, in an exceptional setting, in the heart of the Bois de la Chaize. From the first glance, you will be charmed by the large wooded park whose beauties will enchant your stay. The large reception rooms, the restaurant and the library thus open on a huge sunny terrace where it's nice to meet up in the shade of parasols. The swimming pool, the Japanese lodge and the resting corners have as decor the century-old palm trees and holm oaks whose welcome shade delicately protects from the hot Vendean sun. It's in the peace and quiet of this garden that you will enjoy rare and precious moments of relaxation. In a harmoniously revisited Victorian style, the mansion house bears testimony to the family past as publishers of travel books since 1797. The passion for the sea and navy can be read in the very neat decoration of the eighteen large bedrooms.

Featuring its own restaurant, the Arthus-Bertrand Villa offers you to discover simple and tasty dishes cooked by our chef who draws inspiration for his local and Vendean cuisine from the market stalls, with the island's fishermen and market gardeners. Once passed the gates of the Villa, you will immediately be enchanted by the atmosphere of the place - warm, convivial, serene, restful - and you will not feel like leaving...

Make the most of the water park area integrated into the landscape for your relaxation with access to solariums or, for all ages, slides, wading pool and swimming pool.

3 playgrounds and 1 multisport court for children and adults alike.

Of course, two access points allow you to get to Noirmoutier Island's 8 km of fine sand beaches in complete safety.

In high season, family activities are ensured by a team that listens to you.

And after a very busy day, a takeaway snack and a bar with terrace under the pines will fulfil your expectations.

As you can understand, the whole team of your three-star campsite Les Onchères is at your disposal for your next holidays on Noirmoutier Island.
